

There are many things on this Earth that are terribly wrong. However there is one thing which is eternally right. That is the power of change, we can all change and change things that exist as they are today. Let us all pray together for things to get better, for our outlook on life to get better. Let us pray for peace around the globe and promote health to third world countries and all places which are in need of help. Amen

