

The truest form of self-expression is letting yourself go and showing others who you are. Feeling this and actually doing it and experiencing it don't happen often enough unfortunately. We all have something unique to contribute to this world. Oh Lord show me how to express myself today, let me experience some sacred moments of happiness today that come from the gift of individuality that you gave me. Thank you Lord for having created me. Amen

